New Main Campus, Martinsburg, WV

Hastings+Chivetta was hired to design a new campus for Blue Ridge Community and Technical College, in association with Bastian & Harris Architects. The new facility houses the administrative headquarters of the institution as well as significant health science facilities, including an EMT simulation lab, nursing skills labs, home health lab, medical assistant lab and physical therapy assistant lab.
Health Sciences Building, Kirksville, MO

Truman State University sought to build new synergies and facilitate resource sharing between allied health and nursing. Hastings+Chivetta designed a consolidated home for the nursing, communication disorders, health and exercise science and athletic training programs. Included are a nursing simulation lab, large labs for movement science and exercise physiology, flexible classrooms and office suites. Also included is a new audiology clinic, staffed in part by allied health students, with diagnostic suites, therapy rooms, and a sound-proof booth for hearing evaluations.
East Central College

Health and Science Building, Union, MO

Hastings+Chivetta designed a new facility for East Central College that consolidates science and allied health programs in one building. Specialized labs were created for the nursing and EMT/paramedic programs, including a clinical nursing lab, two simulation labs for nursing and EMS/paramedic programs, and a 640 SF ambulance bay.

The programs are supported by science labs for biology, general chemistry, organic chemistry, genetics/microbiology, biotechnology and anatomy/physiology.
Health Science Expansion and Renovation, Madison, IN

Hastings+Chivetta, in association with The Estopinal Group, designed a major expansion and renovation of the Madison campus for Ivy Tech. The campus was redefined to accommodate new academic courses including Paramedic Services, Nursing, Medical Assistant, and Healthcare Support. These programs are supported by a distance learning classroom, student commons and lounge and library, as well as general science labs, lecture halls and classrooms.
Leaders in Allied Health and Nursing

Hastings+Chivetta designs allied health and nursing facilities across the country that meet the larger educational and business goals of each institution they serve. They contribute to increased research funding, advancements in technology, and the development of tomorrow’s scientific workforce. We understand the challenges our clients face when competing for funding, and we know how to make the most of limited resources to create state-of-the-art spaces.

We create innovative facilities that promote interaction between faculty and students to create intellectual communities. Our broad experience, knowledge, collaborative approach and high-quality service, create the cornerstone of our practice:

“Building clients, not just projects.”
